

Quotes for the Week

What we need is not the old acceptance of the world as a compromise, but some way in which we can heartily hate and heartily love it. We do not want joy and anger to neutralize each other and produce a surly contentment; we want a fiercer delight and fiercer discontent. We have to see the universe as an ogre's castle, to be stormed, and yet as our own cottage, to which we can return at evening.

G.K. Chesterton

Love so amazing, so divine, demands my soul, my life, my all.

Isaac Watts

If there's a job to be done, I always ask the busiest men in my parish to take it on and it gets done.

Henry Ward Beecher

Courage is what it takes to stand up and speak; courage is also what it takes to sit down and listen.

W. Churchill

Though we travel the world over to find the most beautiful, we must carry it with us or we find it not.

Emerson
