

Quotes for the Week

I believe in Christianity as I believe that the sun has risen not only because I see it, but because by it I see everything else.

If we really think that home is elsewhere, and that this life is a “wandering to find home,” why should we not look forward to the arrival?

But suddenly what had been an ideal had become a demand—total surrender to God, the absolute leap in the dark, the demand was not “all or nothing,” that stage had been passed. Now the demand was simply “all!”

Once a man is united to God, how could he not live forever? Once a man is separated from God, what can he do but wither and die?

You can't get a cup of tea large enough or a book long enough to suit me.

If I find in myself a desire which no experience in this world can satisfy, the most probable explanation is that I was made for another world.

Aim at heaven and you will get earth thrown in. Aim at earth and you get neither.

Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name.

Psalm 90:17
